I, Jason Nicholas Juul, formerly known as Jason Place, make this statement in relation to the extensive misconduct, fraud, and potential criminal activities committed by Timur Rustem of Rustem Guardian Solicitors.

Timur Rustem has built his career on deceit, masquerading as a high-end City of London lawyer while using former clients—like myself—as scapegoats to shield himself from scrutiny. He controls the narrative through secret reports to Google and other platforms, attempting to suppress the truth.

I was manipulated by Rustem into switching legal representation multiple times, from Kaim Todner and Karen Todner to Chadwyck Healy and then to [redacted]. My Legal Aid was transferred no less than three times, ensuring that my case landed in Rustem's control. Between 2010 and 2012, this was the largest fraud VHCC case in the country.

Once he secured my case, I witnessed solicitors' offices being raided and torn apart. Rustem even made me believe that MI5 was watching me. My computers and hard drives were stolen, and mysterious men removed my electronic tag, claiming a judge had ordered it.

Rustem promised [redacted], which seemed reasonable given the Metropolitan Police's corruption in shutting down Confidentialaccess. What did I actually receive? Prison sentences and silence, while Rustem pocketed enormous sums of Legal Aid money.

He systematically destroyed my legal defense and intimidated senior barristers who attempted to challenge him. He stole my case from [redacted] He even threatened my in-house advocate, James O'Keeffe, and forced Brendan Kelly QC to withdraw from my case after it emerged that Stephen Young, a Financial Director at Barclays, helped the Met Police set up a sting operation in Gibraltar.

After my release from prison in 2014, Rustem was terrified that I would expose him. To silence me, he orchestrated an elaborate scheme with Jo Sidhu QC to frame me while dodging the payment he had promised.

The authorities must examine Rustem's bank accounts and investigate his laundering of Legal Aid funds. His corruption was not limited to me; he paid me to publicly smear Jo Sidhu QC as "the Jimmy Savile of lawyers" to settle a personal vendetta. I was manipulated into believing this would lead to my payment, but instead, I was betrayed.

Continuation of Statement of .....

Rustem has deep ties to corrupt UK police officers, allowing him to manipulate legal proceedings. His frequent trips to Thailand and Vietnam, where he engaged in suspicious activities, warrant further investigation. His protection by high-level paedophile networks must be exposed.

I demand a full criminal investigation into Rustem and his accomplices. Every fraudulent penny, every betrayal, and every lie must be brought to justice. The UK Police must answer for their failure to act sooner.

I believe that the facts stated in this witness statement are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.
